8.5 Computation of Pay

In computing overtime as with normal time pay, pays will be calculated based on time worked to the nearest ten (10) minutes. Any part of ten minutes remaining will be reckoned as ten minutes.

8.6 Transport after Overtime

Where an employee, after having worked overtime, finishes work at a time when reasonable means of transport are not available the company shall provide them with conveyance, or pay the cost of conveyance, to reach a point where reasonable means of transport are available, or, if no such transport is available, to their home.

8.7 Meal Breaks

All meal breaks during overtime, no matter when taken shall be unpaid breaks.

8.8 Meal Allowance

An employee who is required to work overtime for any period in excess of one and a half hours after the normal finishing time shall be paid a meal allowance, no matter whether a meal break is taken. The rate of this meal allowance is contained in Appendix I - Table 3.3

8.9 Rest Period following Overtime

8.9.1 An employee required to work overtime after their normal shift shall be entitled to a ten (10) hour Rest Period prior to commencement of work on the following day.

8.9.2 If the full ten (10) hour Rest Period is taken the employee shall be paid at ordinary rates for normal working hours falling within the Rest Period, even though not worked.

8.9.3 Should an employee resume or continue work without having had such a Rest Period, they shall be entitled to overtime rates until such time as released.

SECTION 9 - LEAVE

9.1 Public Holidays

- 9.1.1 The following days, or days upon which they are observed, shall be holidays: New Year's Day, Australia Day, Good Friday, Easter Monday, Anzac Day, Queen's Birthday, Eight Hour Day, Christmas Day, Boxing Day and any other days proclaimed as public holidays for the State of New South Wales.
- 9.1.2 In addition, to the holidays specified in subclause 9.1.1, one additional day will be granted in lieu of a Picnic Day and will be a day agreed to by both the majority of the employees and the company.
- 9.1.3 All public holidays falling on a usual working day shall be counted as time worked and paid for as such.
- 9.1.4 If a public holiday falls on an employee's rostered day off then that employee will be afforded another day in lieu of that rostered day off, usually the working day immediately prior to or after that day.
- 9.1.5 An employee who absents themselves without authorised leave on the working day immediately preceding or the working day immediately following a holiday shall not be entitled to payment for such holiday. In the case of sick leave being claimed a doctor's certificate will be required.

9.2 Sick Leave / Family Leave

An employee who is unable to attend for duty during their ordinary working hours by reason of personal illness or personal incapacity or the illness or personal incapacity of an immediate family member (husband, wife or child), shall be entitled to be paid at the ordinary time rate of pay for the time of such non-attendance subject to the following:

- 9.2.1 The employee shall not be entitled to paid leave of absence for any period in respect of which they are entitled to compensation under the Workers' Compensation Act, 1987. Notwithstanding the intent of this clause, an employee may request to be paid sick leave, where due; for the period of absence until such Worker's Compensation claim is accepted and the employee is paid for the absence as Compensation. Once such compensation payment is made the employees' sick leave balance will then be re-credited with whatever sick leave was used.
- 9.2.2 The employee should, prior to the start of their shift where practicable, and in any case, prior to completion of the shift of such absence, inform their supervisor or manager of their inability to attend for duty and, as far as practicable, state the nature of the illness or injury and the estimated duration of the absence. Special note should be taken here of Clause 5.7 - Abandonment of Employment.
- 9.2.3 On all occasions when an employee is absent on sick leave for two consecutive working days or more, the employee shall prove to the satisfaction of the company, by production of a medical certificate or other satisfactory evidence, that they were unable, on account of illness or injury, to attend for duty on the day or days for which sick leave is claimed. An employee who consistently absents themselves for single days may also be asked to provide similar evidence.

- 9.2.4 Subject to the other provisions of this clause, an employee shall be credited with 80 hours paid sick leave in respect of each full year of service. Sick leave granted with pay shall be deducted from such credit.
- 9.2.5 Sick leave entitlements not claimed in any one year shall accumulate from year to year, so long as the employment continues with the company.
- 9.2.6 The payment for any absence on sick leave in accordance with this clause during the first three months of employment of an employee may be withheld by the company until the employee completes such three months of employment, at which time the payment shall be made.

9.3 Annual Leave

- 9.3.1 Annual leave shall be administered as per the Annual Holidays Act, 1944.
- 9.3.2 For annual leave taken, the employee will be paid an additional amount of twenty (20) per cent of the ordinary rate of pay in respect of the period of annual leave taken. This ordinary rate of pay shall be the employee's ordinary weekly pay rate for their permanent position notwithstanding any temporary transfer that may occur in the employee's last week of work prior to proceeding on annual leave.
- 9.3.3 Employees will provide the company with four (4) weeks' notice of their intention to take annual leave. Under extreme circumstances and at the company's absolute discretion, this aforementioned period of notice may be waived by the company.
- 9.3.4 Under the normal period of notice mentioned in 9.3.3 above, payment will be made prior to the employee proceeding on annual leave. However, when a period of one week or less is given in notice, then the payment will be made in the first week of leave by the normal means of transfer to the employees account.
- 9.3.5 In the case of termination, all outstanding annual leave and loading will be paid to the employee except in the case where the termination is at the employee's discretion and where the leave outstanding is related to leave accrued pro rata for any period of service of less than twelve months. In this latter case only the annual leave and not the loading shall be paid.
- 9.3.6 Annual leave will be taken in multiples of one week. Exceptions to this are; when a public holiday falls within the period of annual leave, in which case allowance will be made for that public holiday; or if the employee has not accrued sufficient annual leave for a full week to be taken when the plant is shut down for the December / January shutdown in which case the whole amount of leave due will be used with the balance taken as leave without pay. Single day leave may also be approved in the case of religious holidays not gazetted as public holidays.
- 9.3.7 It is not intended that Annual Leave be used as a replacement for sick leave on single day absences and when insufficient sick leave has accrued.
- 9.3.8 Annual leave will not be granted in advance of pro rata accrual. It will be the employee's responsibility to reserve sufficient annual leave to cover the period of shutdown, usually of two working weeks duration.
- 9.3.9 Under no circumstances will annual leave be paid out in lieu of taking leave unless the employee terminates their employment with the company.

9.4 Long Service Leave

Long service leave will accrue and be administered as per the Long Service Leave Act, 1955.

9.5 Compassionate Leave

An employee shall, on the death within Australia of a wife, husband, father, mother, father-in-law, mother-in-law, child or stepchild, brother or sister, be entitled to leave up to and including the day of the funeral of such relation and such leave will be without deduction of pay for a period not exceeding the number of hours worked by the employee in three ordinary days' work. Proof of such death shall be furnished by the employee to the satisfaction of the company. Provided however, that this clause shall have no operation while the period of entitlement to leave under it coincides with any other period of entitlement to leave. For the purpose of this clause the words "wife" or "husband" shall not include a "wife" or "husband" from whom the employee is separated but shall include a person who lives with the employee as a de facto wife or husband as the case may be.

Provided further that an employee shall be entitled to a maximum of three days' leave without loss of pay on each occasion and on the production of satisfactory evidence of the death outside of Australia of an employee's husband, wife, father, mother or child.

9.6 Jury Service

An employee shall be allowed leave of absence during any period when required to attend for Jury service.

During such leave of absence, an employee shall be paid the difference between the jury service fees received and the employee's normal ordinary rate of pay.

An employee shall be required to produce to the company proof of jury service fees received and proof of requirement to attend and attendance on jury service and shall give the company notice of such requirements as soon as practicable after receiving notification to attend for jury service.

In an instance where an employee, due to short notice, is paid in full by the company for attendance at jury service, the employee will reimburse the company any fees paid by the court for such attendance.

9.7 Blood Donor Leave

Where blood donation facilities are made available at the site or some other nearby place, an employee, who donates blood at such facility during their ordinary hours of work shall be entitled to one hour's paid leave on each occasion for that purpose, provided that before making payment for such leave, the company may require satisfactory proof of attendance at that facility. Blood donor leave may not be claimed more than once in any three month period.

9.8 Leave Without Pay

It is not company policy to grant leave without pay. However, under extreme circumstances and at the company's absolute discretion, leave without pay may be granted. Employees, without sufficient annual leave accrued to cover them for the whole period of plant shutdown will be granted leave without pay.

9.9 Parental Leave

Parental Leave will be granted and administered as per the relevant State Acts, relating to Maternity, Paternity and Adoption Leave.

SECTION 10 - GENERAL CONDITIONS

10.1 Mixed Functions

An employee called upon to do work of a higher classification than that in which they are working shall continue to be paid at their current classification until such time as they are fully competent in the tasks required of that higher classification.

Once the employee shows satisfactory competence their classification shall be changed to the appropriate classification and will remain at that higher classification permanently, so long as they are able and willing to continue working at that higher classification.

If such an employee is called upon to do work of a lower classification for a temporary period then they shall continue to be paid at their normal rate of pay.

The above clause does not include allowances such as wet area allowance, leading hand allowance etc. Such allowances shall only be paid whilst the employee is engaged in duties that attract such an allowance.

10.2 Mechanisation or Technological Change

Where, on account of the introduction or proposed introduction by the company of mechanisation or technological change, there is a need to reduce the number of employees, the redundancy agreement current at that time will apply. Employees will be given a minimum notice period of three (3) months that their position is to become redundant.

10.3 Uniforms and Special Equipment

Where an employee is required by the company to wear a uniform, cap, coat, overall or other uniform dress, it shall be provided and maintained at the company's expense.

Where the nature of the work performed by employees necessitates suitable industrial clothing, including waterproof clothing, boots, gloves, goggles, safety equipment etc., they shall be supplied by the company and shall remain the property of the company.

10.4 Dirt Money and Wet Allowance

Where an employee is required to perform work of an unusually dirty, dusty and/ or offensive nature or to work in temperatures of abnormal heat or cold, the company shall provide for the use of the employees showers with hot and cold water. Such employees shall be paid an amount per hour as specified in Appendix I - Table 3.3 "Wet Area". This allowance shall only be paid for time worked in such an environment and is not included in pay for leave of any type or if an employee is transferred to a position that does not attract such an allowance.

10.5 Floor Mats

Where an employee is required to stand on concrete, brick or stone floors, the company shall provide a suitable mat or floor coverings as agreed upon between the company and the majority of employees employed in such an area.

10.6 Training Leave

Employees employed as trainees, such as trainee chemists, laboratory assistants and apprentices, who, as part of their training are required to attend formal classes shall be allowed up to 5 hours leave each week without loss of pay, to attend such classes.

10.7 Dining Area

A suitable dining room, sufficient to accommodate the employees, shall be provided by the company for the employees to take their lunch and rest breaks. Such dining room shall contain sufficient table and seating accommodation, access to hot water and reasonable provisions for employees to store their lunches. Included shall be a refrigerator and food warmers.

10.8 First Aid

10.8.1 First Aid Facilities

As to first-aid facilities, see Occupational Health And Safety (First-Aid) Regulation, 1989.

10.8.2 First Aid Attendants

The company shall provide access to an "Occupational First Aid Attendant" for the site and a "First Aid Attendant" in each of the following areas; Wet Area, Finishing and Warehouse. Each of the First Aid attendants shall be paid an additional allowance as specified in Appendix I Table 3.3 "First-Aid Allowance". The company will pay for and allow leave without loss of pay for these First Aid Attendants to attend such classes and examinations so that they may keep their relevant certification current. The number of, classifications and qualifications of the above may be varied from time to time dependant on the number of employees on site and the relevant statutory requirements as referred to in clause 10.8.1 above.

10.9 Welfare Facilities

As to Welfare Facilities, see Factories, Shops and Industries Act 1962, Division 10 - Welfare (Factories), Sections 57 - Supply of Drinking water, 58 - Washing Facilities and 59 - Sitting Accommodation.

10.10 Personal Optical Glasses

Where an employee's eyesight is such that they need to wear prescription glasses and due to their work environment are required to wear toughened safety lenses, the company shall pay whatever is the differential between normal lenses and safety lenses. Satisfactory receipts and documentation supporting the claim will need to be provided by the employee.

Compensation to the extent of the damage sustained shall be made where, in the course of work, clothing or optical glasses are damaged or destroyed, by or through the use of corrosive, explosive, inflammable or poisonous substances.

10.11 Proportion of Juniors

The proportion of juniors to adults shall be not more than 20% of the hourly workforce, provided that one such junior may be employed on the site in any case. For the purpose of this clause a junior shall be a person that is paid less than the full adult wage as specified in Appendix I - Table 3.1 - Junior Rates of Pay.

10.12 Manual Handling

As to manual handling procedures, see Occupational Health and Safety (Manual Handling) Regulation 1991 and National Standard for Manual Handling, 1990 (which has been adopted by the aforesaid regulation).

10.13 Travelling Time

10.13.1 Where an employee is required to work at a place other than their usual place of work they shall be paid all fares reasonably incurred in excess of those they would normally incur attending their usual place of work and returning home and shall be paid for half of all travelling time in excess of that taken to reach their usual place of work and returning home

10.13.2 Travelling time shall be paid for at ordinary rates of pay.

10.13.3 The foregoing subclause shall apply only to an employee temporarily transferred from their usual place of work. A temporary transfer shall mean periods of employment at places other than the usual place of work up to a maximum of three consecutive weeks.

10.13.4 An employee transferred from working place to working place during ordinary working hours shall be paid for the time spent in travelling as for time worked and shall receive reimbursement of fares incurred in such transfer.

10.13.5 Where the transfer involves an employee being absent from their normal place of abode they shall be reimbursed for reasonable expenses incurred for accommodation and meals, together with costs of transport to and from the place of transfer. Such reimbursement will need to be supported by receipts or other satisfactory documentation.

10.14 Tool Allowance

Employees employed in the maintenance department as Fitters or Electricians shall be paid an allowance to cover the purchase of their own tools. This allowance shall be paid weekly and known as a Tool Allowance. The amount of this allowance is detailed in Table 3.3 "Other Rates and Allowances".

10.15 Relief Production Supervisor

An employee called upon to act as Relief Production Supervisor during absences of the department's Production Supervisor shall be paid an allowance per shift so employed. The rate is defined in Table 3.3 "Other Rates and Allowances".

10.16 Relief QC Group Leader

An employee called upon to act as Relief QC Group Leader during absences of the department's Group Leader shall be paid an allowance per shift so employed. The rate is defined in Table 3.3 "Other Rates and Allowances".

10.17 Fork Lift Allowance

An employee called upon to operate a ride-on fork lift shall be paid an allowance either per shift so employed or per week so employed as defined in Table 3.3 "Other Rates and Allowances". No employee shall be asked to operate nor shall they operate a fork lift without having completed a Workcover approved driving course and have a current fork lift drivers licence. The only exception to this shall be if the employee is under the direct instruction and supervision of a licensed fork lift driver with the express intention of training such an employee to become competent at driving such a vehicle.

SECTION 11 - UNION DELEGATES AND UNION MATTERS

11.1 Notice Board

The company shall permit a notice, which has been duly authorised by the union secretary to be posted on a noticeboard provided by the company for such purposes.

11.2 Right of Entry

As to right of entry, see Industrial Relations Act, 1996

11.2.1 Notwithstanding the above, the company shall allow an official of the Unions covering the employees to enter its premises during working hours for the purpose of interviewing members of the union. Unions will provide twenty four (24) hours notice of attendance if management personnel are required to be available during the union official's attendance.

11.2.2 The representative shall not unduly interfere with the working of the establishment, and whilst on company premises will conduct themselves in a manner consistent with standard Company Policies and Procedures, including but not exclusive to, Site Safety Procedures. In respect to the before-stated Site Safety Procedures, such representative(s) will need to sign in on arrival and out on departure and whilst on site will follow instructions from the Site Emergency Response Coordinator in the event of an emergency.

11.2.3 If there is a need to enter a workplace area, approval must be sought from the relevant departmental manager or supervisor, before such entry is made.

11.3 Union Delegate(s)

11.3.1 An employee appointed union delegate on the site shall, upon notification thereof to the Company, be recognised as an accredited representative of the union to which they are a member.

11.3.2 Before a delegate/co-delegate moves away from their own area of work on union business, they must first seek approval from their supervisor or manager.

11.3.3 A delegate/co-delegate should not enter any other work area on the site on union business unless they first notify the relevant supervisor or manager of that area.

11.3.4 A supervisor or manager shall not unreasonably withhold permission for a delegate/co-delegate to attend to bona fide union matters either in the case of Clause 11.3.2 or clause 11.3.3

11.3.5 Where an employee requests a delegate to accompany them as a witness or adviser, in discussions with their supervisor or manager, only one delegate/co-delegate shall attend. However, if the union delegate or co-delegate wishes to have discussions with representatives of the company then both may attend.

11.4 Number of Delegates

11.4.1 In so far as the employees may be represented by a union, the following will be the maximum number of delegates / co-delegates that the company shall recognise in respect to Clause 10.3 of this Agreement for each group of employees.

Production, Quality Control and Warehouse - 2

Maintenance - 1

11.4.2 Notwithstanding the above, should a delegate or co-delegate be absent from work and a matter arises that requires immediate attention, a proxy union member may be seconded to replace that absent employee. This clause is not effective in the case of delegates meetings or trade union training as stipulated in the following clause, 11.5.

11.5 Trade Union Training

11.5.1 Authorised delegates of any of the unions party to this Agreement who are nominated by the Secretary of their union to attend either a training course, meeting or program conducted under the auspices of the authority established under the Trade Union Training Authority Act, 1975, or sponsored by the Australian Council of Trade Unions or its State Branch, or by a union party to this Agreement shall be granted leave of absence while attending such course or courses provided that:

At least two weeks prior to attendance of the course or courses the company receives written notice of the nomination from the Union Secretary, setting out the times, dates, content and venue of the course and;

Nominations shall not involve absences from work of more than two delegates from each union represented, for a maximum of three days for each nominee, in each calendar year.

11.5.2 Leave of absence granted shall be counted as time worked for the purposes of annual leave, sick leave and long service leave.

11.5.3 Delegates attending shall receive their normal rate of pay whilst on such leave including shift allowance, but other allowances, penalty rates or any other daily or hourly payments prescribed by this Agreement shall not be payable.

For the purpose of this clause, since this is ostensibly union business, Clause 10.13 - Travelling Time, shall not apply.

SECTION 12 - CONSULTATIVE MECHANISM

12.1 Co-Operation

The company, employees and unions agree to cooperate in the suggestion and application of methods which will add value to the business and promote where possible:

- * The health, safety and welfare of employees,
- * Efficient operations and outputs;
- * Good housekeeping, hygiene and Good Manufacturing Practice
- * Harmonious employee relations.

The consultative process will be based upon consensus decision making and may use such mechanisms as departmental meetings, delegates meetings and consultative committees. To become and stay competitive, the plant must continue to make changes to improve the efficiency of the plant as a whole. All parties to this Agreement recognise this and agree to work together to achieve this goal. As an ongoing process for improvement in productivity and efficiency, discussions will take place to provide more flexible working arrangements, improvements in the quality of working life, enhancement of skills, training and job satisfaction.

12.2 Consultative Committee

Bearing in mind, that the Company as owner of the enterprise, shall have the sole responsibility for determining the business direction and goals, it is recognised that the employees have a part to play in how these goals are achieved. To this end a consultative committee will be established for the purpose of consulting and where possible dealing with issues that arise from time to time that impact either directly or indirectly on the employees. Whilst the committee may come to agreement on certain issues, the decision to adopt or reject proposals made by the committee shall remain at the discretion of the company and the absolute majority of the employees covered by this Agreement.

12.2.1 Composition

The consultative committee will comprise of not more than eight participants with no more than three company representatives and no more than five employee representatives.

12.2.2 Company Representatives.

To ensure that the Committee operates to its full potential and is not delayed in its decision making, the Plant Manager or their delegate shall be one of the company representatives.

12.2.3 Employee Representatives

There shall be representatives from each functional group. ie. Production - Wet Area, Production - Finishing, Warehouse/Stores, Quality Control and Maintenance. Employee representatives shall be nominated and elected by the employees.

12.2.4 Union Representation

Whilst union delegates / co-delegates may be members of the committee it is not mandatory that they become members.

12.2.5 Training of Representatives

All representatives of the consultative committee will undertake an agreed training program on the operation of the committee and their role as members. All representatives of the Committee will attend the training which will be conducted within three months of the formation of the committee.

12.2.5 The consultative committee will meet as required, with all meetings being held during normal working hours at a time and place mutually convenient to all representatives.

12.2.6 The first task of the consultative committee will be to develop an agreed constitution. The constitution shall include, but not be restricted to, the following;

- * Scope of the Committee's activities;
- * Role and rights of the representatives on the committee;
- * Selection of the chairperson;
- * Programming the issues on the agenda;
- * Recording of the minutes;
- * The use of external people and resources.

12.3 Grievance Procedure

The objectives of this procedure shall be to promote the resolution of disputes by measures based on consultation, co-operation and discretion to minimise industrial confrontation and to avoid interruption to the performance of work and the consequential loss of production and wages.

12.3.1 Work shall continue normally in accordance with the terms of this Agreement while grievances are being discussed.

12.3.2 All matters in dispute between the company and one or more of its employees shall be referred to the first line supervisor of the department concerned. The employee may, at their request, be represented by a union delegate.

12.3.3 During the next two working days, the supervisor shall respond to the employee(s) concerned.

12.3.4 In the event of failure to resolve the grievance, the employee(s) or union delegate shall refer the matter to the department manager.

12.3.5 Should the dispute still remain unresolved, an official of the union and the delegate will confer with company representatives. By agreement of the parties, an independent arbitrator may be used to try and resolve the dispute.

12.3.6 The parties concerned at each level shall make every attempt to quickly and satisfactorily settle the matter or, where necessary, refer the grievance upward with minimum delay. All parties should also respect individual or group confidentiality at all stages of the procedure.

12.3.7 If the above procedure has not resolved the dispute, the dispute may be referred by either party to the Industrial Relations Commission of New South Wales for either conciliation or arbitration, in line with the Industrial Relations Act, 1996.

This procedure has been accepted by the company, employees and unions in recognition of the fact that a major purpose of this Agreement is to eliminate industrial disputation and ensure continuity of operations. During the discussions the status quo shall remain and work shall proceed normally. "Status quo" shall mean the situation existing immediately prior to the dispute or the matter giving rise to the dispute. However, in cases of misconduct an employee may be suspended whilst the matter is in dispute.

12.4 Counselling and Disciplining Employees

This procedure is designed to encourage and improve work performance. The procedure prescribes steps for giving guidance, and in appropriate cases, taking disciplinary action.

12.4.1 Step 1 - Verbal Warning / Counselling

When the problem first becomes evident the immediate supervisor should discuss the matter with the employee in private, although the employee has the choice of asking a delegate to be present. Failure to address the problem immediately can be construed as condoning the behaviour.

The purpose of this stage is to inform the employee that some action or failure to act on their part is not acceptable practice and that the employee needs to correct such performance. An agreed improvement level should be identified as well as a date that any review, if necessary, will take place. It is very much the intention of this first discussion to seek improvement and the discussion should be held in that vein.

While no formal documentation is required at this stage, some form of written record such as a diary should be kept.

12.4.2 Step 2 - Formal Written Warning

If, at the review date, the improvement objective(s) has / have not been met or if there has been another related incident, then a formal written warning will need to be given. Again this meeting should be held in private and, where appropriate, with the union delegate or co-delegate.

At this meeting, the supervisor should refer to the initial discussion and detail the concern and the agreed improvement objective. The employee should clearly understand what the problem is and what improvement is required. Again, specific improvement objectives should be set, agreed to and documented. The employee should also be made aware that failure to achieve the agreed objectives will result in further disciplinary action.

The written warning should be signed by both parties, a copy kept by both parties and a copy sent to the Personnel Department. However, refusal by the employee to sign this document shall not be construed as the warning not being given.

12.4.3 Step 3 - Final Written Warning

If again, at the review date, the improvement objectives have not been met or if there has been further related incident then a final written warning should be given

This meeting should include content and procedures similar to the first two, however, this time it needs to be made clear that the matter is now very serious and failure to meet the standards can result in termination.

The meeting shall be formally documented and signed by both parties with a copy sent to the Personnel Department. Again refusal to sign by the employee shall not be construed as this warning not being given.

12.4.4 Step 4 Termination

If there is still no improvement or another incident occurs, then the employee will be terminated from the Company. Notice of termination shall be in writing and should clearly state the reason for termination.

12.4.5 Limitation of Effectiveness

The company recognises that, after counselling, many employees improve their performance or work habits. Therefore so as not to penalise improvers, the time for which a formal warning will remain on file and have effect on future discipline, will depend on the nature of previous warnings and the commitment to improvement that may have been displayed. But in any case, shall not have effect for a period longer than six months after the agreed review date, so included on the warning.
